THE PUBLIC WORK .- A petition is to-day in circulation for the signatures of our fellow-citizens, to which we subscribe with pleasure, and invoke to its recommendations the calm and earnest attention of our most estimable Presi-By the measure proposed the best of workmanship may be secured, and the expense need not be materially, if at all, increased. But even should it prove greater, the payment of a just recompense directly to the laborer accords more strictly with the principles of justice than the augmentation of profits in the hands of contractors, or the liability of the Government to inferior to their cupidity. To his Excellency MILLARD FILLMORE, President of the United States.

SIR: The time being at hand when it is understood your Excellency will determine the plan and mode of improving the Capitol, under the late act of Congress, we are induced to make a short statement concerning it. We do not doubt your determination to do your duty to the public, whose organ you are, and we have equal confidence in your desire to benefit your fellow-citizens who labor for their support, so far as is consistent therewith. herefore respectfully make what we think is a fair statement of facts, and leave to your Excellency to decide upon the proposition it con-

There are two modes of executing whatever plan may be adopted. One is by the contract system, such as that under which the Smithsonian Institute building and the wings of the Patent Office have been undertaken; another is by what is called day-work, in which, under a superintendent selected for the purpose, work-men are employed and paid by the day, and do the work under his supervision. We are of opinion that the latter mode is not only fairest for the laborer generally, but most advantageous to the Government. It is certain that contractors expect to make handsome profits, and most generally succeed; and where they fail, or profess to have failed, Congress is sure to be called on to make good alleged losses, and almost always grant relief in such cases. On the other hand, the laborer receives nothing which he does not earn, and the Government pays for nothing it does not actually receive; it is therefore, on that account, most fair and advantageous.

But we suppose, from experience, that it will be seen such work is always better finished than contract work. For proof of that opinion we can only refer to the various buildings done under the two systems in this city.

We, the citizens of the District of Columbia, therefore respectfully solicit your Excellency to adopt the latter mode, unless your power is restrained by legislative provisions.

All persons having copies of the above petition, with names appended, are requested to return them to the office of the Daily American Telegraph, at or before noon on Thursday.

A FRACAS.-In the National Hotel, vesterday, Mr. Fuller, late proprietor of the United States Hotel, and Captain Schambourg, late of the U. S. Army, met, and after some words relating to some pecuniary matters between them, Mr. Fuller struck Capt. S. and "doubled him up." We believe the affair ended here.

The proprietor and managers of the National Hotel are most estimable gentlemen, of whom we have nothing unkind or disrespectful to say; but we have a remark that must come forth. class such things are frequent. Why is this? appeared. Is it because gentlemen visit the latter? We do not wish to inquire into the private affairs and griefs of any one, but are sure that business accounts are seldom clearer or straighter after a gentleman's nose has been broken or his eye blacked, than before; and where injustice and wrong have been committed, if there be no other tribunal, the public will render a righteous verdict. This thing of rapping a gentleman on the mazard is so apt to lead to cutting and shooting, and sets such a bad example to plainer men and to youth! If we know any of our patrons to be guilty of it, we shall cut them off our list at once, (they always quit us indignantly for exposing them!) and we think minehost of the National should do so too-he should make Gregory turn out every guest that gets into a "muss" on his premises.

There was a little fight between a little white boy and a little yellow boy, in front of our office a few days ago, in which the Caucasian drew forth a pretty clever specimen of a stabbing knife, and was about to use it in good earnest when observed by some of our neighbors. Had he slaughtered the Ethiopian, whose would have been the responsibility? Some honorable gentleman surely, whom he was ambitious to imitate! When will gentlemen learn to be gen-

GREEN was not hung at Ellicott's Mills on Friday last. Thousands of persons had congregated from a distance to witness his execution : but at ten o'clock, just as the sheriff was about to proceed from the jail with the prisoner, a despatch was received from Gov. Lowe, then in Frederick, granting a respite of two weeks. The execution, consequently, did not take place, it is stated, "much to the disappointment of those while in conversation with a gentleman, long a who had assembled on the spot!" Yet it is said that resident in St. Croix, the gentleman informed there is "a strong feeling in the community in favor of a commutation of his sentence for the longest term of imprisonment by law for the offence committed by him." How strange this is! We should not wonder at some innocent victim being hung at such a gathering to satisfy curiosity. It was "much to the disappointment of those who had assembled," although "there is a strong feeling in the community in favor of a commutation of his sentence!"

PHILADELPHIA .- They had a nice abolition meeting in Franklin Hall on Sunday afternoon, to review the course of the Press and some of the people of that city, "in regard to George Thompson, M. P.," whom they would not let speak. The meeting was opened with prayer, but closed with an approximation to a row. C. C. Burleigh, R. Plumley, Lucretia Mott. Mr. Elder. John Campbell, (of the other side!) Geo. Mundy, (a monomaniac,) a Miss Grew and a Mr. Grew, were the speakers. The whole affair was gassy, and ended in smoke. Out of seven days in the week, how odd that this should have happened on the Sabbath!

The award of the Geographical Society of Paris to Lieut. W. F. Lynch, commander of the U. S. Expedition to the Red Sea, was a diploma and medal.

No class of men have risen to usefulness and honor faster, of late years, than have the officers of the American navy. Their ships will ere after-payments, to men whose calculation proves long be propelled by steam, and in times of peace made to subserve useful purposes. The influence of our officers will then be everywhere felt, and the arts of peace will prosper by their corpus. aid; and by-and-by all national wars will be fought in an international Congress, where, alone, right shall be might. It is the cheapest as well as the most pleasant mode of fighting.

> SABBATH SCHOOL UNION .- The adjourned meeting of the Sabbath School Union was held last evening in Tenth street Baptist church, Wm. Q. Force, esq., presiding. The opening hymn by the schools was followed with prayer by Rev. S. P. Hill. In addition to the usual devotional exercises, appropriate addresses were delivered by Messrs. R. Rickets, Z. The next regular meeting will be held at the Ninth street M P church

CRIMINAL COURT .- In the case of the United States vs. Ezekiel Young, jr., charged with refusing to aid officer Stoddardt in the discharge of his duty in apprehending a man named Lightfoot, a verdict of not guilty was to-day rendered. Morgan for the defence.

The case of the United States vs. John Meyer, alias Jack Meyer, upon a charge of forging a power of attorney to obtain money from the United States, was also called up and the jury sworn; and it is in course of trial as our paper is going to press. Ratcliffe for the defence.

We were mistaken in speaking of General John D. Freeman as the "Whig" candidate for Congress in Mississippi. He always belonged to the other party, and is now the "Union" or anti-secession candidate. There is no Whig or Democratic organization either in that State or in Georgia, in view of the present crisis.

Progress.-A gentleman who has lived all his life where the streets are paved, but who has just removed a square or two beyond the last curbstone, called upon us yesterday to make the request that we would devote a larger portion of the space in our columns to the agricultural interests. We shall not commence until after a visit to the rural districts of this beauti- lowing:

MR. WEBSTER AS AN ANGLER.-A correspondent of the Boston Bee, writing from this city, gives us the following bit of piscatorial gossip:

"A friend who passed 'the falls' on the There are a number of hotels in this city that Potomac at an early hour yesterday morning been the victim of a most shameful conspiracy, are not called "first class," and yet that are saw Mr. Webster, intently engaged in fishing, never disturbed by fights; while in the first and looking far heartier than Horace Mann ever class such things are frequent. Mr. Lanman, the artist and writer, often Mr. Webster's companion in these piscatory rambles, which commence at sunrise, and terminate before the cabinet meetings at nine o'clock. How many of the "Vigilance Com-mittee" could thus devote the early part of the day to a fatiguing sport, and then pass hours in conducting the diplomatic and home policy of our Republic ?"

We are further informed that the bass or rock fishing, with rod and reel, has seldom been as good at the Little Falls as within the last two weeks; and while Mr. Webster has frequently taken fish weighing as much as ten pounds, his angling Secretary, Mr. Lanman, has taken as many as twenty in a single morning. We understand that they are in the habit of doing all their angling while other people are generally asleep, or, at any rate, before the ordinary PETTY THIEVING .- This practice is of late a great annoyance in Washington. No one's kitchen, pantry, or stable is safe. This morning, as Mr. John H. Tucker, who resides on the Island, was passing through the market, he saw for sale a lot of chickens he had seen safe in his own enclosure last evening. On making inquiry he found out the thieves, and William Betler and Frank Bell, two sable youths, will probably go to the Penitentiary.

A HOAX.-Some two years since it was published in St. Thomas papers, and extensively copied, that Capt. Paulson, of the Danish brig Triton, while on his way from St. Croix to London, discovered an island previously unknown, situated in lat. 33.19 N., long. 42.39 W. Capt. Warren G. Curren, of the American brig Thomas Trowbridge, informs us that he has twice sought in the place described for the island, but none him that the alleged discovery of the island was an April hoax, perpetrated by Captain Paulson letter written by him to a friend in St. Croix, and by the latter published in the St. Thomas papers. As the supposed island has been laid down in the chart, this explanation from Capt. Curren will prevent further decep-

JENNY LIND .- The New York Mirror says of this great vocalist, that she retains her house in Brooklyn until September, and, perhaps, two or three months longer; and that after her concerts in Boston she will visit the Falls, and make concert-giving a matter of pleasure more than of labor.

It has been stated with confidence and apparent authority, in Baltimore papers, that she would give concerts there in July. We must have her here again, if by a writ of habeas

After suffering nearly a year's imprisonment, awaiting a trial, he has finally been declared innocent, solely upon the testimony of the very men upon previous evidence before the Grand Jury the charges were founded. Not a single witness was called for the defence, as nearly every witness for the prosecution proved innocence. of the prosecuting witnesses were directors of the bank at the time it exploded, and the mode in which the funds were spirited away was by heavy deposites of the bills of the concern into the hands of individuals who afterwards failed; these bills had been placed in their hands for circulation, and their failure to remit other currency in exchange caused the explosion.

Mr. Collier is over fifty years of age. He formerly resided in this city, where he has been widely known for many years as a high-minded, upright man, whose probity is far above susp cion. He is the father of a very interestin family-three sons and two daughters. One of the former is a member of the Maryland bar, another is a student of divinity at New Bruns wick college, and the third is now finishing collegiate studies here. To his family, and to very wide circle of friends, Mr. Collier's triumphant acquittal will indeed be a satisfaction though they well knew that it was impossible for him to have knowingly committed a crime. We learn that Collier intends instituting suits for heavy damages against his prosecutors.

From a list in the Boston Advertiser, of thirteen railroads and their branches, in Massachusetts, with 238 miles of double track, 3751 of single, costing in the whole $33,810,689, it appears that more than half the companies paid dividends in 1850, from the nett profits of the year, eight per cent.; and the average dividend on the whole exceeded seven per cent., each having retained a greater or less reserve.

A LOVE CHARM.—The Marquis de Nesle be came deeply enamored of Mademoiselle de la Force, after having received from her a small bag to wear about his neck as a remedy against the vapors. He would have married her, but his relations opposed it on the score of her poverty. The great Conde, the Marquis de Nesle's nearest relation, took him to Chattillon, that he might forget his love for Mademoiselle quis were there assembled, for the purpose of declaring against the match. He, on his part, told them that he would never, while he lived, marry any other person. In a moment of despair he rushed out into the garden, and would have thrown himself into the canal, but the string with which Mademoiselle de la Force had tied the bag about his neck broke, and the bag fell at his feet. His thoughts, at that moment, appeared to undergo a sudden change, and Mademoiselle seemed to him to be as ugly as she really was. On being told what had happened, they searched about for the bag, and on opening it found it to contain two toad's feet, holding a heart wrapped in a bat's wing, and round the whole a paper inscribed with unin-telligible cyphers. Monsieur la Marquis de la Nesle was effectually cured.
